

From glamour.com, the online edition of Glamour Magazine, 14 Dec 2005

GLAM HAPPENINGS – The GLAMOUR girl's guide to what's hot now

A-LIST STYLE ADVICE

While one of the GLAMOUR.COM team was enjoying Champagne at Topshop, we sent another of our sartorially-challenged writers to meet Red Letter Day's Patrick Swan. But where Topshop was velvet cushions and private dressing rooms, this was no-frills, no-nonsense shopping with a mission. Patrick definitely knows his stuff - he's worked with the likes of Madonna and Julia Roberts in the past - so there's no messing about umming and ahing about what you think you like. First up, he had our tester stripped down to her undies in Rigby & Peller (good lingerie is the key to a stylish look, apparently), before a whirlwind trip around the best shops in London's West End. This is great if you're having a major clothing crisis or are, perhaps, looking for a whole new look - think Trinny and Susannah without the annoying boob-grabbing and public humiliation on TV. Save up first before embarking on a day with Patrick though - you won't want to waste his valuable advice due to bad credit...!